

Assurance Model of Assessment for Chinook's Edge

Responsive, transparent and robust

Alberta Education is guiding a transition to improved accountability through a new assurance framework, which builds on the strengths and measures of the traditional Accountability Pillar.

Determining our priority focus together

The Assurance Model will continue providing a comprehensive assessment of student achievement, but will also provide a deeper reflection on the confidence our stakeholders have in our work as a division and allow for input into next steps for achieving our goals together.

Engaging our Stakeholders

Chinook's Edge has been proud to have engaged each of our stakeholder groups for many years through a unique set of structures we call our 'Matters Committees'. The Teachers Matter Committee was launched nearly 10 years ago, followed soon after by the Students Matter Committee and the Support Staff Matter Committee. The work of our Parents Matter Committee is currently being re-defined. Each of our Matters Committees engages opinion leaders who provide inside ideas and offer collaboration directly to the Superintendents Team and the Board of Trustees.

Coming soon!

The Assurance Model of assessment provides more flexibility in focusing on meaningful measures and more opportunity for stakeholder input and feedback. Stakeholder engagement is key to ensuring we capture the robust, transparent and responsive conversations around the quality learning that our families and communities have come to expect of Chinook's Edge. Our relentless focus on building quality learning and supporting student success will continue through deep conversations and engagement with our stakeholders. We look forward to sharing these efforts on our website and through updates directly to you. Stay tuned!
